Sleightsburg Man, 45, Is Killed in Accident; Wife Dies in Hospital

Frank Terwilliger Dies Instantly When Car Hits Tree at Ulster Park; Three Others Are Injured; Son Reported as Driver of Vehicle

Late Bulletin

Mrs. Alida Turck Terwilliger, 45, of Sleightsburg, died early this afternoon at the Benedictine Hospital as a result of injuries received in an early morning accident which also claimed the life of her husband, Frank Terwilliger, 45.

Frank Terwilliger was instantly killed at 2:15 a. m. today when his car left the road and collided with a tree at Ulster Park.

Mrs. Terwilliger was rushed to the hospital following the crash with a fractured skull, compound fracture of the leg and other injuries. She had been in critical condition.

A double funeral service for Mr. and Mrs. Terwilliger will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m., from the Port Ewen Methodist Church. Burial will be in the River View Cemetery.

Besides her children, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Victor Osborn, Kingston; and two brothers, Wilbur Turck, Kingston; and Franklin Turck of Portland, Ore.

Car Strikes Tree

Frank Terwilliger, 45, Sleightsburg, was instantly killed at 2:15 o'clock this morning when his 1939 Dodge sedan left the road and ran approximately 100 feet before colliding with a tree in front of the Churchwell residence at Ulster Park.

Mrs. Alida Terwilliger, 45, his wife, received a fractured skull, compound fracture of the leg and other injuries. Her condition was reported as critical at the Benedictine Hospital.

Three other occupants of the car were also injured and taken to the Benedictine Hospital where their condition was reported as good today.

Withholds Verdict

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, who with State Police from Highland, investigated the accident, said his investigation had not been completed and he would withhold a verdict at this time. The accident he said was undoubtedly accidental.

The coroner said his investigation disclosed that at the time of the accident Frank Terwilliger, Jr., 16, was operating the car. He had taken over when his father became tired. It is believed the boy momentarily fell asleep at the wheel, the coroner said.

Sergeant John Metzger with Troopers Bonney and Hunka from Highland went to the scene. They reported the car was proceeding north at a speed of about 35 miles an hour when the driver lost control and the car struck the tree at the Melvin Churchwell residence at Ulster Park.

Three Others Hurt

Darleen Nathan, 15, of 15 Robertson street, Binghamton, received a fracture of the right leg. Frank Terwilliger, Jr., 16, received chest injuries and possible internal injuries.

Floyd Terwilliger, 13, had head injury and X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of the injuries.

The report of the accident stated the car was proceeding north on Route 9W at Ulster Park at 2:15 a. m. when the operator lost control and ran off the right side of the road, where a three-mile concrete roadway about 30 feet wide.

All of the injured were brought to the Benedictine Hospital by the Conner ambulance.

Coroner Kelly after an examination directed the remains of Mr. Terwilliger be removed from the scene and they were taken to the Kelly Funeral Home.

B.P.W. Favors New Storm Water Sewer For Howland Ave.

Proposal Is Deferred on Change of Lights on Washington Viaduct

The Board of Public Works yesterday favored construction of a storm water sewer line in the Howland-Fairview avenue area and deferred for further study a proposal to change the lights on the Washington avenue viaduct.

City Engineer Arthur Hallinan reported that plans were completed for piping surface water which accumulates at Howland and Fairview avenues into an area brook at an estimated cost of $2,500.

The proposal was discussed at the June meeting following complaints of flooded conditions at the point where the streets join as the result of accumulated water during rain storms.

The board voted to defer action on the request to improve lights on the viaduct following a report by Commissioner Walter E. Lomantiz of the lighting committee.

The city owns the fixtures and wiring, the commissioner said, and after an inspection with a representative of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., it was decided that the fixtures were not in condition favorable to larger lights.

The city of mercury vapor lights suspended overhead, was suggested, he said, and it is expected that this proposal will be given further consideration in the later study of the problem.

Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Martin had requested improved lighting and repair of the viaduct as a resolution introduced at a Common Council session several weeks ago.

The board tabled for later consideration a request for lights on Valentine avenue following a report on costs and problems in the area by Commissioner Canitz.

Will Clear Title

The board moved to clear title of land on Park avenue in behalf of Kingston Manufacturers, which is the subject of a lawsuit.

Spy Probe Names Two Scientists

Lomantiz and Bohm Are Cited as Members of West Coast Cell of Communists

Two Are Cleared Physicist, Wife Given Clean Bill Following Investigation

Washington, July 21 (AP)—House spy probes named two atomic scientists today as members of a wartime Communist cell at a west coast laboratory. They said they still are tracking down others.

The House Un-American Activities Committee put the finger on Giovanni Rossi Lomantiz and Davis Bohm as members of a cell at the Radiation Laboratory at the University of California at Berkeley.

It did so in an official document that reproduced, with a foreword, last month's hearings on Communist Steve Nelson, Communist party organizer in the San Francisco Bay area in the early 1940's and now operating in western Pennsylvania.

Lomantiz until recently was a professor at Elks University at Nashville. Bohm is a physicist professor at Princeton University.

The committee said the Soviet government first tried to use Nelson's acquaintance with "one of leading physicists engaged in the development of the atomic bomb" for infiltrating the Berkeley Laboratory. The physicist was not named.

The committee indicated Nelson scraped up "the acquaintance" through a physicist's wife. It said he met her in Spain in 1937, where her first husband, like Nelson, was a volunteer in the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War.

The first husband was killed, the committee reported, and the woman moved to Berkeley, met and married the physicist.

The committee said an investigation cleared the scientist and his wife of any subversive activities, and said their loyalty never has been questioned by the government.

But under Nelson's guidance, the committee said, a cell of five or six young physicists was developed in the laboratory.

"According to a sworn statement," a witness said, "Giovanni Rossi Lomantiz was the principal Communist party organizer. The records of this committee also reflect that David Bohm... was also a member of this cell."

Both men on two occasions refused to answer questions about membership in the cell on grounds they might incriminate themselves, the committee noted.

"Other alleged members of this cell at the radiation laboratory," it said, "are under investigation by this committee and such evidence of membership will be forthcoming in future hearings of this committee."

On another matter, it still was uncertain whether there will be a hearing for Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the Federal Bureau of Standards, Condon was

Lawmakers' Minds Are Put at Ease on Giving Up Secrets

Congressmen Feel Certain President Will Not By-Pass Them at This Time

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Some lawmakers who had expressed misgivings that President Truman might act on his own to give Britain some A-bomb secrets seemed to have their minds eased today.

They said, after another top-level, hush-hush atomic conference yesterday, that they would not now press for a move to keep the President from acting by executive order in this field.

There had been talk of putting at least the Senate on formal record as saying the atomic energy law forbids the supplying of atomic secrets to any foreign power unless Congress approves. Apparently, they now are satisfied that Mr. Truman plans no by-passing of Congress at this time.

However, the atomic question still was a warm one. Senator Wherry (R-Neb.), told reporters he plans to try to find out what role, if any, atomic secrets and know-how will play in the "mutual aid" section of the North Atlantic Pact now up for ratification.

He said also he wants to know what has been going on at the two highly secret top-level discussions on the question of sharing atomic bomb secrets with Great Britain and Canada. (Canadian officials, however, say they are not interested in getting this information.)

The Senate-House Atomic Committee held a two and three-quarter hour meeting with top state, military and atomic officials on the British-Canadian matter on Capitol Hill yesterday. The participants included Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Johnson, General Dwight

Pact and Atom Produce Wrangle

Senate Vote Comes Up in Midst of U. S. Disputes

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Senate came up to a vote on the North Atlantic Pact today amid a stormy wrangle over sharing atomic secrets with 11 other nations.

Treaty foes demanded to know whether arms for Europe will mean giving the atomic bomb or atomic secrets to the Atlantic allies.

"We've got to have an answer before the treaty is ratified—not after," Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) told reporters. The final treaty vote is scheduled late this afternoon.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told the Senate last night that treaty approval will not obligate the U. S. to give the atom bomb or atomic secrets to pact nations.

The precise nature of military aid to be given to Europe must be determined when Congress acts on a proposed arms-for-Europe program, McMahon said in answering a question by Wherry.

Senate leaders said they were confident that even the atomic issue will not halt overwhelming approval of the treaty. They estimated no more than 15 votes—and perhaps less—against the pact.

The first show-down ballot was due shortly after 4 p. m. E.S.T. on a treaty reservation sponsored by Wherry. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Senator Watkins (R-Utah).

This reservation says it would be the understanding of the United States that Article 3 of the treaty carries no obligation to supply military aid to pact nations.

Pact critics say Article 3 would obligate this nation to reveal its atomic secrets to Europe, if it is not made explicitly plain that it does not. Supporters of the treaty deny there is any such commitment and call the reservation unnecessary and unwise.

Says He'll Stay Radical
Newark, N. J., July 21 (AP)—"I'm a radical and I'm going to stay one," Paul Robeson told a cheering Civil Rights Congress mass meeting at the Mosque Theatre last night. Outside the theatre, the Negro baritone singer did not receive such a warm welcome.

Some 50 members of two veterans organizations marched up and down chanting: "Go back to Russia. We don't want you. Get out of New Jersey." The former Rutgers University football star, who was born in Princeton, spoke of imperialism, Russia, money interests and the plight of the suppressed Negro in the course of a rambling, 40-minute speech at the rally.

Heavy Rain Douses Area Farmlands

Richmond Park Loses Phone Service for Several Hours; High Falls Suffers

Tower Is Struck Television Apparatus Is Hit on 9W; Alarm Box Is Hit

A series of a half dozen electric storms broke over Ulster county and adjacent areas Wednesday afternoon and evening dropping virtual torrents of rain in some areas. The storms were accompanied by some of the most brilliant lightning of the season and there was widespread damage from lightning bolts.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reported the series of storms general throughout the area with widely scattered interruptions and the city of Kingston was without power and light for about a minute when the main station on the Boulevard was put out of commission by a bolt of lightning.

Automatic devices cut back the house services but it was a few minutes before the street lighting circuits could be cut back manually.

The New York Telephone Company reported scattered damage with a concentration of damage out 9W near the Richmond Park area where cable damage put out some 125 phones. This was cleared up by 1 a. m. At the height of the storm about 1,000 telephones in the Kingston district were out. Men were engaged during the night in restoring service and this morning all but about 175 lines had been cleared and these were expected to be in order today.

There was severe damage in the High Falls section where the telephone company had about 60 phones out. Men were working in that area today and it was expected these lines would be clear by night. Shokan also suffered considerable damage as did Roseville, Woodstock and other suburban areas. There was little wind accompanying the storms and damage from falling branches or trees was reported.

From southern Ulster little damage was reported and apparently the storm area to the south was restricted.

Direct Hits Reported
Most of the difficulty experienced by the Central Hudson system was due to direct lightning hits, the company reported. The direct hit on the Boulevard station which blacked out the entire city for a short time, was the most serious single incident since it is through this station that main feeder lines for the city come. Had a second strike been received at that point before repairs were completed, there would have been a serious situation. Repairs were being made last night and today to the station and normal conditions will exist by evening.

Isolated complaints flooded the company office from all sections of the county where individual services were cut off. Complaints centered in the Woodstock, West Hurley, New Paltz, Tilton, Roseton.

Adjournment Set
Congress May Go Home September 1; Leaders Not Optimistic

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Congressional leaders have set September 1 as the target date for adjourning this session of Congress.

They aren't too optimistic about it and figure that it may be Labor Day or later before all the odds and ends of legislation are cleaned up.

House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts told newsmen he is scheduling the House business docket to clear up all "must" bills by the end of August.

In this category are bills to increase the minimum wage payable in interstate industry, to extend social security coverage, and possibly to provide federal aid to education.

Redemptorist Priest Dies at 93

The Rev. John A. Klang, C.S.B., who, at the time of his death, was the oldest living Redemptorist Father in the world, died of old age in the Redemptorist Fathers' Rest House at Saratoga Springs. Father Klang died at the age of 93.

Father Klang was born in St. Alphonsus parish in the lower west side of New York on November 4, 1855. He began his studies for the priesthood at St. James in Baltimore and, after a six-year course in the classics, he entered the Redemptorist Fathers' Novitiate at Annapolis, Md. There, after a novitiate of one year, he made his religious profession taking the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience on August, 1877. After completing his course of theological studies at the Redemptorist Fathers' Seminary, then located at Ithaca, N.Y., Father Klang was ordained to the priesthood by Archbishop, later Cardinal, Gibbons on June 11, 1881.

present seminary of the Redemptorist Fathers, was the scope of Father Klang's labors during the years of 1909 to 1915 and from 1917 to 1945. He was the pastor of canon law, church history and the natural sciences. For a time Father Klang was also in charge of Sacred Heart Church in Esopus. During his priestly life Father Klang also distinguished himself as superior of Sacred Heart in Baltimore, rector of St. Michael's Church and parish in Baltimore, and rector of the Redemptorist Fathers' Novitiate at Ithaca, Md.

A solemn Mass of requiem will be offered for Father Klang at the Chapel of St. Clement's Mission House in Saratoga Springs on Friday morning, July 22, followed by burial in the Redemptorist Fathers' plot in the cemetery attached to St. Clement's parish in Saratoga.

Performing Clams

By FRANK TRIFF

You can find people yet who don't believe there are such things as trained fleas and a flea circus. So perhaps this yarn about a troupe of performing clams hasn't much chance of acceptance farther inland than Sandy Hook.

Nevertheless I once had a troupe of performing clams. It wasn't something you could cast about the country as a flea circus is transported, because trick clams are very temperamental creatures. Though clams are mollusks, I imagine you'll let me call them temperamental creatures; at least concede that much, and keep an open mind while I tell you a strange story about ordinary chowder clams.

When my children were young, I spent much time on the beach with them, along the Jersey Coast, at Ocean Grove, Asbury, and Allenhurst. I had more fun than they did.

One day, right at the water's edge, where tiny ripples of a pond-calm ocean rolled lazily in and out over the fine, soft sand, leaving it barely damp one moment, and under an inch of salt water the next, I came upon my performing clams.

THERE WERE SIX of them, all lowly Quahogs, of the size and number to make a likely serving, either with or without cocktail sauce. That was my first thought about them. Then I noticed something I never knew about round, hard clams—something the encyclopedias attribute only to soft, mud clams.

They were moving and more or less in unison. I always thought hard clams just got kicked about by the waves. In fact it never occurred to me that there could be any place that a clam would care to go—but there is.

After they had got halfway there I yanked them back on the beach and called the kids. Soon there was a crowd of youngsters about and I was giving a lecture on clams—performing clams, disappearing clams.

I FOUND THAT I could control the activity of the clams according to where I placed them with respect to the obb and flow of the water. Through this secret, I could command certain clams to roll up on edge and they would. Others, placed only a few inches away, I could command to lie still and to the amazement of the children the orders were obeyed.

Then, while the kids played with four of the clams I placed a child's beach ball over the other two, did a bit of magician's house-poop and had a boy sit on the ball. In a few minutes, I asked him to give me the two clams. He lifted the ball and said, with astonishment, "Mister, they're gone!" Indeed they were gone—but not far, just under the sand.

You can't find performing clams on any beach nor on any day. Everything has to be just right—including your inclination to play with clams. But I found some several times thereafter and one day I picked up a handful of quahogs from groynings willing to bet in clams, like idlers used to bet their money on jumping frogs. It was a lot of fun—(all they got wise where to place their pet clam.

IF THE DAMP SAND and the lap of lazy ripples is just right, a beach-bound hard clam will behave like a soft clam; open its shell about an inch and thrust out its tongue.

Its tongue is what many think is the best part of the clam; that solid, muscle part. It protrudes some distance, bores into the sand and slowly the clam will rise until it stands upright, with its hinge upward, its open jaws downward and its tongue in the sand.

Then slowly it sucks its way into the damp, soft sand and disappears. Move it a foot from the right spot and it will lie like a stone until the tide or waves take it back to sea.

That's all I know about clams; except that they're mighty good eatin'.

As Pegler Sees It

enced from Katz or Karr. Hal is an American journalist who has been absolutely clean for a career of 40 years. He doesn't know how to compromise with honor.

Pearson had an inside line to the naval intelligence reports before Knox set up the office of public relations. Hal wrote me: "All public relations had been handled by O.N.I. and most O.N.I. officers were enthusiastic followers of Pearson because he had helped the navy with recruiting."

"I think you can write your own comment on such 'help.' In the regular army it is expressed in the words 'let's you and him fight.'"

"Flaherty's letter continues: 'Then Knox set up the new office of public relations and all that sort of work was ripped away from O.N.I. Pearson lost a very fruitful source of exclusive news. This he blamed on Knox. The record will show a series of personal attacks on Knox starting about 1941. Pearson was cut off from O.N.I. I was taken into the navy that I could heal the breach between Pearson and Knox by giving Pearson a break of two or three days on navy news that he could use in his predictions. I was urged to see Pearson's runner whose name I vaguely remember. I told those who urged me to see him that I knew I couldn't satisfy Pearson but that I would talk with his representative who later came to see me.

"This runner was very suave and said it was regrettable that there couldn't be a better relationship between his boss, and mine. I agreed, he said they only wanted occasional breaks in navy news. Other departments were giving them duplicates of news releases three days in advance. Why couldn't the navy do the same?"

"I pointed out that across the hall the navy maintained a press room where reporters regularly assigned to the navy sat all day long. Commander Robert Barry was in charge and whenever news was released he saw to it that every one of the regulars got a fair break. If some were away at meals, he waited until they returned or personally called their organization and gave them the news."

"That is the only way we can handle news releases here," I told Mr. Pearson's representative, "and it will continue as long as I have anything to do with the release of news."

"Within a week, Pearson gave Knox another shellacking and I was called up to Knox's office to explain. I told the story of the approach and the decision I had taken. Knox said:

"You were perfectly right. Don't play any favorites."

"From then on, Pearson took many wallops at Knox but he never, so far as I know, got any special treatment from the Office of Public Relations, certainly not while Knox lived."

"I felt pretty badly about the attacks on Knox knowing them to be grossly unfair but satisfied that if I had submitted it would have been like the old story of paying the blackmailer. I believe Forrestal carried on with the same decision after he took over at Knox's death and was subjected to the same treatment by Pearson. That, however, was after my time in Washington.

"No other writer even suggested such a thing. The files of newspapers from January 1940 until 1944 will show the course of Pearson's vindictive attacks on Knox."

Vaughan May Give Testimony About Capital Percenters

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Senator Hoey (D-N.C.) said today there is a possibility that President Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, will be asked to testify in the Senate investigation of "Washington five percenters."

Hoey is chairman of a Senate Expenditures Subcommittee which is completing plans for a public inquiry into allegations of the use of influence in the awarding of government contracts.

The term "five percenters" has been applied to persons who help manufacturers get government contracts for a fee. There have been charges that some of those persons have claimed influence with government officials.

The subcommittee's preliminary investigation already has resulted in the suspension of Maj. Gen. Alden S. Wait, chief of the Army's Chemical Corps, and Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general.

Vaughan has said he knows "about 300 persons in Washington" in contract operations.

As a result Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) has called on Mr. Truman to suspend Vaughan. And Senator Mundt (D-S.D.) has demanded that Vaughan be required to tell the Senate Subcommittee "whether he was just wind-jamming, or actually knows something" about "five percenters." Mundt is a member of the subcommittee.

Hoey declined to comment on Mundt's demand, but he told a reporter:

"If anything shows up in our preliminary investigation which indicates that General Vaughan could contribute any information that would be useful to us, we will of course invite him to testify."

Florida Indicts...

Law agencies came simultaneously with reports of two more mob slappings and disagreements between two top-level Klan officers.

A white man revealed yesterday he and a Negro were taken out Tuesday night by an armed mob, tied to a tree and lashed with a sawmill belt.

Dolph Bailey, 25, said none of the attackers wore masks. He also said they were not Klansmen, adding that a member of the Klan himself. The attack occurred near Goodwater, about 70 miles southeast of Birmingham.

Two white men, booked as Holby Buckner and Buck Burkhalter, both of Alexander City, have been arrested in the case. Both are in jail under $5,000 bonds.

Bailey named them as the two men who applied the lash.

Goodwater Police Chief Cleburn Ogburn said the Negro who was beaten, S. J. Thomas, is in "fair condition" in a hospital.

In Birmingham, a question of leadership arose in high ranks of the Klan.

Dr. P. Pruitt, 72-year-old Birmingham physician, said he still is president and chairman of the board of governors of the white-robed order.

William Hugh Morris, Klan director and member of the board of governors, said he has accepted Dr. Pruitt's resignation "with reluctance."

Morris made his announcement from a cell at county jail, where he is in the 14th day of an indefinite contempt of court sentence. He was ordered kept there until he produced Klan records for a grand jury.

It seems that Mr. Morris knows more about the "I do," Dr. Pruitt observed. "I have not quite resigned yet."

The two have been at odds before over their relative power. Pruitt said last June 25, on the eve of passage of a statewide anti-masking law, that he had ordered the Klan to drop the mask.

Morris retorted that Pruitt "doesn't have the authority to

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 21 (AP)—The Stock Market ran into a little heavy weather today after cruising to an 8-week peak yesterday. Losses were relatively small—most of them under a point—but they were well distributed and only a handful of issues managed to make any forward progress. Many stocks remained at Wednesday's closing levels.

It was the first time this week that the price curve has turned down. The market has been advancing steadily since mid-June after dropping to a 4½-year low on June 13.

Except for a short time immediately after the opening of trade, selling pressure never amounted to much. Buying forces, though, seemed to be taking a rest following a sustained price rise.

Bulk trading developed for a few minutes at the start but interest either way soon waned.

Lower prices were paid for Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Nickel Plate, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (N.J.), Twentieth Century-Fox, Commonwealth & Southern, Nickel, Copper International, Nickel, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, International Paper, Schenley, Caterpillar Tractor, Montgomery Ward, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Wheeling Steel, Bethlehem Steel and National Steel.

Cutting against the trend were Deere, Lockheed, Western Union, Commonwealth Edison, Union Carbide and American Tobacco.

In the curb losers included Kaiser-Frazer, National Bellas Hess, Niagara Hudson Power, United Light, American Gas, American Natural Gas, Barium Steel, Cities Service, Derby Oil, Caden Petroleum, and Humble Oil.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city, branch office, 43 John street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

Scenes at Stone Ridge Library

Mr. Snyder, before leaving Mr. Snyder made a contribution of money to the library which has brought him so much enjoyment and knowledge through its books.

(Lower photo) Mrs. Katherine Hasbrouck, president of the board of trustees of the Stone Ridge Library, decided to make some unique old buttons into earrings for the jewelry table at this year's fair. Already she has sold $80 worth. The buttons were given by the families of the village and many are heirloom types including buttons from Faus and Grace. Four old Russian buttons contributed by Mrs. Guy McCormick make attractive brooches. (Freeman Photos)

Tobacco Crop Damaged
Hartford, Conn., July 21 (AP)—The wind and hail storm yesterday caused damage to Connecticut tobacco growers estimated today at over $3,000,000. Hardest hit were Ellington, Broad Brook and Windsor.

Planning for Fair To Help Library In Fortieth Year

Preparations are being completed this week for the annual fair to benefit the Stone Ridge Library. The library, now in its 40th year, stands fourth highest in its class in the state.

The fair will be held Saturday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock, rain or shine, weather permitting the booths will be placed on the library grounds with movies being shown in the garage. The Rev. Robert Ward will have charge of the movies.

Refreshments will be sold under the direction of Mrs. William Strong. Other booths and children include food, the Mormal Club, Miss Sarah Lounsbury; vegetable and plants, Mrs. Kenneth Davenport; quality, Mrs. William Macgregor Mills; miscellaneous, Miss Alberta Davis; jewelry, Miss Katherine Hasbrouck; book mart, Mrs. George Percy.

Entertainment will be provided by the children of the school under the direction of Mrs. Edward Muller and Mrs. Jacob Osterhout.

Stone Ridge Library is supported in part by the state and in part by township appropriation augmented by membership contribution. The yearly fair is the library's most extensive money-raising project.

The house as it stands today was built by Edward Lounsbury in 1770. Retained by the Lounsbury family until 1859, it passed directly by purchase to Cornelius Hasbrouck who in turn sold it in 1865 to Garrett Decker Hasbrouck, who bequeathed it to his daughter, Julia Hasbrouck Dwight.

Mrs. Dwight presented the building to her community for a free library in memory of her parents in 1909.

Mrs. Matilda Van Winkle as first librarian served gratis in that capacity until her death in 1935.

In addition to the many books offered to the community for loan, there is a little museum of articles concerning the area in the upstairs department of the building.

Each Saturday morning from 10:30 to 11:30, children's hour is conducted by Mrs. Alexander Tison. The children often select their own books from the library shelves.

The staff includes Mrs. Preston Hasbrouck, Miss Carol Nilsson, and Miss Patricia Ham as circulating librarians and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport as librarian. The library is open each Wednesday and Saturday from 3 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 o'clock. Mrs. Hasbrouck also is president of the Stone Ridge Library Association.

Miss Katherine Hasbrouck who is president of the board of trustees has served on the board for more than 15 years. Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh is vice president; Mrs. William Hasbrouck, secretary and treasurer.

Other members include Miss Sarah Lounsbury, Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, Mrs. William Strong, Ross K. Osterhout, Leon Chambers, the Rev. B. C. Schmidt, the Rev. Robert C. Ward and the Rev. Gerrit Timmer.

The original charter calls for the inclusion of at least two of the current ministers of the three village churches to serve on the board of trustees.

Firemen Are Called
Local firemen were called out twice today to repair short circuits in a house and truck. At 9:47 a. m., firemen went to 479 Wilbur avenue where there was a short in the wiring in the second floor apartment occupied by Mrs. Evelyn Dingman. The house is owned by the Goldwasser estate. The short was caused by Wednesday night's heavy rains, the department said. A short circuit also was reported in a fuel oil truck owned by Phelan and Cahill at Stuyvesant street and Hasbrouck avenue today at 1:30 p. m. No damage was reported.

EAST AND WEST MEET—This German beer garden is smack on the border of the French sector of Berlin and the Russian zone. In fact, the boundary runs right through the place, which means both east gold (east money) and west gold (west money) can be used. With six Soviet-backed marks going for one Westmark, patrons usually sit on the Russian side, like this family, and pay for their food and drink in Eastmarks.

Violence Leaves Mark

Honolulu, July 21 (AP)—Violence left its mark on Hawaii's 84-day dock strike today. The first major outbreak in the bitter dispute occurred yesterday. Several hundred C.I.O. pickets and sympathizers swarmed down on a group of non-union stevedores getting ready to unload strikebound freighters. Police broke up the clash within 10 minutes. But 19 men were injured and 30 arrested. Those jailed—identified by police as L.L.W.U. strikers—were held without charge on suspicion of riot.

Wanted in Nova Scotia

Local police were notified today by authorities at Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, that Evan L. Moore, 24, of East West Ferry street, Buffalo, who was arrested here July 15, on an alleged bogus check attempt is charged with having passed a worthless check for $300 at the Bank of Nova Scotia. Moore was scheduled for city court hearing here this morning, but an adjournment was taken until July 28. It is alleged here that Moore tried to cash a check for $200 at Elston's Sport Shop, 280 Fair street.

100 designs illustrated: crochet, knitting, embroidery, quilts, toys. Plus FREE needlework pattern printed in the book.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

Bob Rühmhart's mother showed me an interesting item. It was a small square flowered material as used in old fashioned crazy quilts, on which was printed "Ladies Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., Rondout, New York, Tuesday, March 29th, 1892" (over 50 years ago.) The event was called a "Crazy Quilt" and was held at the Y.M.C.A. It was also printed out on this small square colored material: "Cold ham, cold veal, biscuit, bread, coffee, pickles, cheese, cake, ice cream. Admission 10 cents. Supper ticket 25 cents." It seems it also was a bazaar.

Talking to Hynde Rahr whose bakery has been on the corner of Spring and Broadway for a long time, he says he remembers the Derrenbacher & Stephan wholesalers of flour, grain and feed, at Lackawanna street, near Ravine, at the Canal Co.'s Dock in Rondout (as listed in the 1857 Boyd's Kingston & Rondout Directory of 1857-58). That old time flour concern sold pumpnickel flour to Rahr's which made excellent old fashioned bread.

Joe Kain, chauffeur for the Rice sisters, told us about a flintlock gun, which he now owns, which was presented to the chief of the Iroquois Indians in New York State by the English. The chief's name was Brandt. It has a silver head of an Indian. It is as tall as a man, and worked by means of flint in the days before matches. It is said, it came from the Rockefeller estate. Perhaps many recall the figures on the lawn of the Rice estate on Wurts street, corner Spring. I remember the deer, which they say was made from Babbitt metal, an alloy of copper, tin and zinc, used in bearings. The deer figure is now in the beautiful gardens of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Looking back in the Boyd's Kingston & Rondout Directory of 1857-58, loaned by A. P. Murquart of Crane street, it is interesting to note that C. & J. S. Burhans, on E. Front street near Canal street listed as a dry goods store sold. Their ad read: "Dealer in groceries, provisions, flour, grain and salt. Patent, oils, sash, glass and putty. Clover and Timothy seeds. Dry goods: Boots, shoes, hats and caps. Hardware: Iron nails, grain cradles, scythes and snaths. Rope, wooden ware, crockery and lumber."—Cornelius Burhans and John S. Burhans. According to many advertisements in those days, I notice that salt was printed in large letters, perhaps it was a scarce commodity. Who knows?

Those were the days of Daguerotypes. Only one brick-maker is mentioned, Orson Vandervoort on Bridge street. I thought there would be more than 12 blacksmiths as are listed. I see four stages (horse and wagon buses). There was the Rondout & Delhi, Rondout & Ellenville, both owned by George F. Von Beck and both left from Mansion House in Rondout. Regular stages left for Kingston Point on arrival of the day and night boats. The Rondout & Kingston route had a regular omnibus line which started every half hour from the Mansion House, fare being 12 and a half cents.

In 1857 there was a post office in Kingston at Crown street near North Front street. William Kerr was postmaster, and Charles Van Buren the clerk. It was opened daily from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Sundays from 9 to 10 a. m. The Rondout post office at Division street corner Lackawanna had longer hours. J. H. Stratton was postmaster, and H. N. Brown and P. S. Gallagher were the clerks.

Barbara Hutton Is Reported Ill

Dedham, Mass., July 21 (AP)—Barbara Hutton Troubetzkoi, heiress to the Woolworth millions, was described as "critically ill" in Europe and down to 88 pounds yesterday at a hearing before a probate court judge.

After hearing arguments from her attorney, Judge Arthur W. Davis granted the heiress custody of her son, Lance Haugwitz-Reventlow, 13, until September 15. John J. Burns, her counsel, said the heiress has undergone four surgical operations in the past three years for removal of "a substantial portion of her smaller intestine."

He said she "is so critically ill that she needs her son with her."

Ordinarily, the mother has custody of the boy during the first half of the summer. His father, Danish Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, Miss Hutton's second husband, has custody the second half.

Burns told Judge Davis, the heiress at present resides in Paris. However, she was reported vacationing at Venice, Italy. The director of the Excelsior Hotel on Venice's famed Lido Beach said she went for a swim there yesterday.

Burns said Miss Hutton had asked her former husband's consent to extend the boy's visit with his mother, but that the father would permit the boy to remain only until August 5.

Reventlow, who now resides in Newport, R. I., said his former wife telephoned him Tuesday and said she would like to keep Lance with her for a while longer as "she was not feeling well."

Reventlow said he agreed to let the boy stay with her until August 6 instead of having him leave for this country yesterday.

He said he was not represented in court because neither he nor his attorney were notified of the hearing.

Miss Hutton's first marriage to Prince Alexis Mdivani and her third to Movie Star Cary Grant also ended in divorce. She married her present husband on March 1, 1947.

The custody case was heard in a Massachusetts court because at the time the difference arose

Lance was attending a Brookline school. The boy will be a student at St. George's School in Newport this year.

Capital Paper Bought

Chicago, July 21 (AP)—The Washington Times-Herald, the capital's biggest daily newspaper, has been purchased by the Chicago Tribune, which has the largest circulation of any standard size newspaper in the country. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Tribune, last night announced the purchase of the newspaper once owned by his cousin, the late Mrs. Eleanor M. (Clasie) Patterson. His brief announcement said the present management of the Times-Herald will be continued.

Good Guess
Pittsburgh (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Burns and their five children are enjoying a new $400 television set at home these days because Burns is a good sidewalk superintendent. When a local wrecking crew began razing the old Hotel Henry this spring to make way for the new U. S. Steel-Mellon Bank building, passers-by were invited to guess when the site would be leveled. Burns, a Bureau of Internal Revenue agent, stopped by on his lunch hour one day, gave the project a cursory glance, and guessed exactly right.

American steel production in 1948 was 88,533,720 tons, a peacetime record.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE
Holding Up Is Good
No Trump Strategy

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Every day more and more players are adopting the point count for no trump bidding, but I think that too many are abusing it. South's hand today has a count of 18, counting the aces four and the kings three. With a count of 16 to 18, you should bid one no trump, but not on this type of hand. Why risk a good sound hand when you do not have the club suit? The proper bid is one heart by South.

When North bids two clubs, showing a trick and a half, South is justified in jumping to three no trump.

The important lesson, however, that I want to point out today is the hold-up play. On the opening lead of the five of spades, declarer plays the jack from dummy and East goes up with the king. The careless declarer wins with the ace, and now when the club suit does not break, he finds he has only eight tricks.

Do not win the spade lead until the third round. Then lead a small club and finesse the nine-spot. If you will lose only three spades and a club. If they are divided five-three, as they are in today's hand, West will not be able to get in to cash his good spades until after you have made nine tricks.

BOY SCOUT FAVORITE—Is salmon, cooked whole in cheesecloth over a campfire.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Boy Scouts like salmon, according to report. They hold it whole in cheesecloth during July, and eat it with new peas and boiled potatoes. That's a New England tradition dating back to colonial times.

The salmon should be in one piece. Be sure to handle the fish with care, so it won't break up. To prevent this, the salmon should be securely wrapped in cheesecloth before boiling. When done, the cheesecloth and skin are removed and the fish is served whole.

New Englanders add a rich cream sauce with plenty of sliced hard-cooked eggs. Some prefer hot hollandaise sauce and still others like to drench it with drawn butter. Another fancy touch is to grate egg yolk over the salmon.

Fresh halibut season is here. So try this hefty young appetizer:

Boiled Halibut Dinner
(Serves 6)

Two pounds fresh halibut steaks, ¼ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup chopped carrot, few sprigs parsley, 1 bay leaf, 6 peppercorns, 2 whole cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup Sauterne wine or 1 cup water flavored with lemon juice, 1 quart water.

Boil water, vegetable and seasoning for 15 minutes. Add wine or lemon-flavored water. Wrap steaks in cheesecloth, place in boiling liquid and cover. Simmer for 30 minutes. Remove fish and keep it hot. Melt 4 tablespoons of butter or fortified margarine add 3 tablespoons of flour, stir in ¼

Breeds Hornless Cows
Webster City, Iowa (AP)—E. C. Clover, vocational agriculture instructor in the Webster City schools, has gained nationwide attention for his work with hornless cattle. Clover spent more than four years developing a herd of Guernsey cattle which are hornless. He was named a director of the recently-formed National Polled Cattle Promotion Club. He now has a herd of 16 polled cattle, all descendants of his original stock.

Overcome by Honor
Bangkok (AP)—The first woman ever elected to the Thailand (Siam) Parliament arrived at Bangkok's railroad station only to be carried out on a stretcher. Nang Orapin Chayakarn was to receive a triumphal welcome from her husband, family and friends, but she was so overcome by the rigors of her campaign that she had to be taken in an ambulance to a hospital.

Famous Names Become Part of Red Trial Roster

New York, July 21 (AP)—Famous names out of America's past are being sprinkled into the record as part of the defense case at the Communist conspiracy trial.

Newest additions to the historical roster are the names of John Alden, a Pilgrim father who came to America on the Mayflower, and his wife, Priscilla.

A defense witness, Mrs. Frances A. Hood, of (33 Fayston St.) Roxbury, Mass., testified yesterday that she is a direct descendant of the famous colonial couple.

But unlike her shy ancestor, John, who had to be urged by Priscilla before he would speak even for himself, Mrs. Hood spoke out strongly in defense of the 11 Red leaders on trial.

She said the Communist party—to which she belongs—teaches the preservation of the American government, not its destruction.

Mrs. Hood, a tall Radcliffe College graduate, is the second defense witness from the Boston area who has summoned up the names of historical forerunners in giving personal background.

Previously, Daniel Boone Schirmer, another Roxbury resident, and a self-described descendant of the family of pioneer and trail-blazer Daniel Boone, appeared for the defense.

Mrs. Hood said she is related to the Aldens on "both sides"—seven generations removed on her mother's side, and eight generations away on her father's.

Her grandmother, she said, was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She said she was eligible to be a member, but never had joined.

Joined in 1894

She had, however, joined the Communist party in 1936 she testified, and had been president of the party's West End Club in Boston from 1945 through 1948, the years covered by the indictment against the 11 party officials.

She said she has a vital interest in the outcome of the trial because "my beliefs are at stake."

Asked if any of the party classes she attended ever were taught to work for the violent overthrow of the government, Mrs. Hood said:

"Absolutely not. On the contrary we were taught to protect and preserve the government. We were taught to protect and extend American democracy."

The defendants are accused of conspiring to advocate overthrow of the government by force, under cross-examination, Mrs. Hood—like other defense witnesses—balked at answering some questions pertaining to identities of fellow party workers.

She said one teacher at a series of classes she attended was Frances Smith, but she would not give Miss Smith's married name, declining.

"I prefer not to give it because of her husband's employment."

Mrs. Hood is the wife of Otis Hood, Massachusetts state chairman of the Communist party and former party gubernatorial candidate in the Bay State.

She was the second witness called to refute testimony of Herbert A. Philbrick, F.B.I. informant who testified about Communist activity in the Boston area.

She disputed Philbrick's claims that party members resorted to false names, held secret meetings, failed to keep minutes of meetings, and that speakers said revolution in this country would be carried out by "armed bands" in time of war or depression.

California Merges Forces to Unravel Gangland Warfare

Los Angeles, July 21 (AP)—The state, county and city merged forces to fight an upsurge of gang warfare which climaxed with the shotgun blasts that felled gambling boss Mickey Cohen and three other persons.

The victims, including Harry Cooper, special agent assigned by the attorney general's office to protect the dapper, little Cohen, are recovering from their wounds.

An emergency meeting of top state, county and city law enforcement officers was called here yesterday a few hours after the early-morning blaze of gunfire on the swank sunset strip shocked this "City of the Angels."

Attorney General Fred Howser, who flew from San Francisco to attend the meeting, said last night that Cohen's lawyer, Sam Rummel, has named the persons who he believes fired the shots.

"But I am in no position at this time," Howser said, "to disclose the names of these persons. That would be aiding the suspects."

Shot down with Cohen, who fronts as a haberdasher, and Cooper were Edward (Neddie) Gerbert, a confederate of the gambler and blonde actress Dee David. All but Cohen were critically injured. They were fired upon as they emerged early yesterday from Sierrys Restaurant by two men concealed across the street.

Two automatic shotguns, each with one live shell left, were found a block away.

Several recent attempts have been made to slay Cohen, central figure in a current hot grand jury inquiry into police vice cliques. The investigation already has resulted in major police department shake-ups, including the resignation of Chief C. B. Horrall.

Cohen who was hit in the shoulder, said in the hospital, "I'm scared not only for myself but for everyone around me, my wife, my friends and even the law. I don't know what to expect next."

Although his mobsters were all over the place, not a shot was returned. Howser said his investigation will be extensive.

"It pertains to gangsters and hoodlums, racing wire services and racing information, the death of Bugsy Siegel and other matters."

The Cohen shooting was the most spectacular underworld outbreak since the 1930s since the gun-fire killing of Siegel two years ago. The case is unsolved. He was shot as he sat in the luxurious mansion of international playgirl Virginia Hill.

Cohen, 35, and a transplanted New Yorker, was grilled at length about the Siegel affair but was never charged with it. The underworld grapevine said Cohen succeeded to Siegel's throne in the rich southern California rackets.

Forsyth Park to Have Community Night, 8:15

Members of Forsyth Park invite all their friends to take a "Moonlight Cruise" with them tonight at 8:15 when the S.S. Forsyth sets sail. An evening of good fun is in store for everyone once the program gets underway.

"Moonlight Bay" is the first number by the chorus: Carolyn Colburn, Juanita Dunham, Carol Goldleaf, Pat Gulnick, Sharon Gormley, Seymour Liebergot, Pat Paradise, Frank Pisano, Johnny Robinson, Margaret Short, Arlene Smith, Evelyn Sprague, Madeline Stephano, Leon Van Dyke, Judy Van Gassebeck, Pat Van Gassebeck, Amy Wells and Lee Whitaker.

"Galway Bay" is next, sung by Johnny Robinson. Pat Paradise and Leon Van Dyke will then do a dance to the tune of "Way Down Upon the Swanne River."

The audience will hardly be able to refuse the invitation to go "Cruising Down the River" when it is put to them by the chorus.

Other songs on the program are "You Can't Be True Dear" by Pat Gulnick; "Where the River Shanon Flows", by Juanita Dunham; "Red Roses" song and dance by Leo Whitaker and Amy Wells; "Slow Boat to China" by Pat Van Gassebeck; "Buttons and Bows" by Pat Paradise; "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," Carol Goldleaf; "It's a Great Big Wonderful World" by Seymour Liebergot; "Anchors Aweigh" sung by the chorus will conclude the program.

The directors in Forsyth Park this year are Natalie Ann Murray and Shirley Plester.

Movies will be shown directly after the children's program under the supervision of Andrew J. Murphy III.

But we do know that prompt treatment under medical advice may prevent even temporary crippling, or decrease the seriousness of permanent crippling which is sometimes a complication of polio. If the disease causes temporary paralysis, it is still possible to avoid permanent crippling through one of the newer methods of treatment.

The disease's popular name—Infantile paralysis—can be mis-

Five Persons Die In Accident on Jersey Route 25

Rahway, N. J., July 21 (AP)—Five persons burned to death today when a trailer truck overturned on a jeep and burst into flames at Hazelwood avenue bridge on Route 25.

A sixth passenger of the crushed jeep was taken to Rahway Memorial Hospital in critical condition. The truck driver was uninjured, police said.

Police said the five victims, including a Rahway patrolman, were burned almost beyond recognition. Wrecking crews worked more than three hours to lift the huge gutted van of the truck off the wreckage of the jeep to allow removal of the bodies. The dead were identified as negroes.

Police quoted the truck driver, Rubin Chlufsky of Philadelphia, as saying both vehicles had headed up the ramp to the bridge in the same direction.

Chilafsky told police the jeep stopped suddenly, forcing him to apply his brakes. He said the truck buckled, rammed over a safety island, and overturned squarely on top of the jeep, bursting into flames immediately.

Hospital attendants identified the one survivor as Lawrence Belinger, 31, and the dead as Patrolman Gilbert Brown, Willie Belinger, Edna Parks, John Baskerville, and Otis Terrell, all of Rahway.

The accident happened about 2:45 a. m., Police said the truck was owned by the W. T. Cowan Transport Co., of Baltimore, Md.

Advances in Immunization

Have there been new advances in immunization for children? Yes. It is now possible for your child to be immunized for more than one disease at one time.

Shanghai, July 21 (AP)—The American President Lines said 7000 foreigners have asked for reservations if and when a repatriation ship is ordered to Shanghai. These include international repatriation organization refugees. There are about 5,000 foreigners, exclusive of Russians, still in Shanghai. The 700 reservations here include 250 Americans. The number of Americans undoubtedly would increase if it became known definitely an evacuation ship was coming in.

Retires After 50 Years

Cedar Key, Fla. (AP)—A husband and wife teaching team has decided after nearly 50 years to retire. They are Mr. and Mrs. James Loren Bilderbeck who came to Alachua county in 1925 after teaching in Indiana. Mrs. Bilderbeck was born in 1883 in Coatsville, Ind., and began teaching in 1904 at Browning rural school in Hendricks county. Her salary was $350 a year. She taught the elementary grades and was qualified to teach English and mathematics. Her husband was born in 1884 in Hartsville, Illinois, and began his teaching career in his home town for $300 a year. His elementary and high school teaching career was interrupted three times—once to be graduated from the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy in 1909; once to get his Bachelor of Science degree in Education in 1931 at the University of Florida; and once to teach physics at the University of Florida during World War II.

Discuss Water System

Woodstock, July 20—F. J. Keis, consulting engineer of Troy, and Supervisor Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, go over plans for the proposed water district in the village during Tuesday's meeting at the town clerk's office at which time new bids were submitted.

Woodstock News

By Peg Hard

Lower Water Bids Submitted Tuesday

Woodstock, July 20—Lower bids of approximately $2,100 were made Tuesday afternoon for the Woodstock water system at a special meeting of the town board in the town clerk's office.

The lowest bid submitted was approximately $2,000 on Section 1 of the original proposal, while the lowest bid submitted June 20 was about $28,300.

After Tuesday's bids, the board decided that an analysis and formal recommendation should be made by Consulting Engineer F. J. Keis of Troy and to be made public at a public hearing during the town board meeting on July 29. Keis was present at yesterday's party.

No bids were submitted yesterday on the pump house but it is expected that local contractors will be invited to bid on the construction of this small building at a later date.

The water system plan calls for the construction of wells on property acquired by the town for this purpose and located on the Bears-ville flats between Bearsville and Woodstock, at the foot of Ohayo mountain. Water will be pumped to the center of the village through a six-inch pipe and from there distributed through 6,900 feet of 8-inch water mains and 24,840 feet of 6-inch main. The plan calls for a 100,000 gallon steel standpipe to provide pressure. The requirements will be about 225,000 gallons of water each 24 hours.

The movement for a water district had its inception in a taxpayers petition which was filed with the town board on March 13, 1947. The board held a hearing on the petition on April 4 and the comptroller approved the district on June 3, 1947. On June 5, 1947, the Woodstock Water District was formed and Keis and Holroy, Troy, were engaged as consultant engineers. On July 24, the application was filed with the Water Power and Control Commission and a hearing was had before John C. Thompson, associate engineer of the Commission at the Woodstock Town Hall on August 22. At that time the petition, maps and plans were considered.

Subsequent approval of the commission was given for the drilling of wells. An engineering survey was made of the proposed plan, and found that there appeared to be a gravel bed south of the village which could be used as a source of supply.

When bids were opened about a year ago it was found that the total proposed cost amounted to approximately three times that of the original estimate of $150,000 which had been approved by the Board of Audit and Control. Bids for labor and materials to complete the water system were again advertised for this year. Those received, with the exception of Section 1, were in line with the original estimate and, accepted with a contingent clause. It was decided at a special meeting of the Town Board and upon recommendation by Consulting Engineer Keis, to readvertise for bids on Section 1 of the proposed plan. This section includes wells, pumping equipment, pumping station, building and controls.

With these bids as accepted, an estimated figure of $211,300 has been set as the total cost for the water supply system. A petition circulated among the taxpayers in the district was presented to the town board requesting that the appropriation for the work be increased from $150,000 to $211,300. This petition was accepted by the board and presented for approval by Supervisor Kenneth L. Wilson to the Water Power and Control Commission. Approval by the commission has been received and a public hearing on the question will be had at a regular meeting of the Woodstock Town Board Friday, July 29 at 8 p. m. in the town clerk's office.

Supervisor Wilson, when questioned as to the time involved to complete the water job, said today that it was expected the job would take approximately 90 working days. He was hopeful that the work might get underway next month.

Library Fair Is Planned July 28

Woodstock, July 20—The unique and interesting annual Woodstock Library Fair, which in past years has drawn people from as far as 60 miles, promises to be the outstanding feature of the summer season.

The fair is scheduled Thursday,

July 28, starting at 1 p. m. and concluding at 6 p. m.

It is eagerly being looked forward to by all who have known it and attended it for the past 21 years. The proceeds go to the support of the Woodstock Library, said to have one of the most varied and complete assortment of books of any library its size and stands high among all the libraries in the State of New York.

Visitors will have chance to see many prominent Woodstockers performing unaccompanied tasks at the fair, when artists, writers, musicians and other Woodstock citizens assist to make the 22nd Annual Library Fair a success.

Woodstock prides itself upon having a larger than average number of well-known and interesting residents. A cross section of the population discloses that there are actually hundreds of the country's most creative people pursuing their vocations in this little town.

The fair lasts only one afternoon, the next day in case of rain. Numerous tables display various kinds of articles for sale. Aside from the many angles of human interest afforded by this colorful artists' colony, it is an opportunity for collectors to pick up interesting and unique pieces. Where these fine pieces come from year after year, nobody seems to know but each year the folk hereabouts empty their jealously guarded closets and trunks, and each year the tables are piled high with real bargains. The articles for sale vary in character, running from the very original handiworks, willingly autographed by their producers, through used clothing to tasty homemade delicacies. There also will be games and novelty entertainment to amuse visitors of all ages.

Those who have attended a Woodstock Library Fair usually speak of it as a memorable event. Those who have never seen it will have an opportunity to form an opinion Thursday afternoon, July 28, when hundreds of residents, including artists, writers, musicians, thespians, et al., man the tables and are generally busy working for the success of the event that in a large measure contributes to maintaining the high standard achieved by the local library.

Church Fair

Woodstock, July 20—The annual fair and roast beef supper sponsored by members of the Wittenberg Methodist Church will be held in the church hall, Wednesday, July 27, beginning at 2 p. m.

Rag rugs, aprons, plastic novelties and numerous other articles will be on sale. The first serving of the supper will take place at 5:30 p. m. and the second serving at 6:30 p. m. Co-chairmen for the annual event are Mrs. Laurette Shults and Mrs. Nelson Shults. They will be assisted by members of the congregation.

Pachner Represented In New York Gallery

Woodstock, July 20—William Pachner's "luminous study of brutality," "In Memoriam," has been mentioned as one of the more interesting items included in the current exhibition through July 23 of 22 oils, prints and pieces of sculpture by an equal number of artists at the American Contemporary Arts Gallery, New York.

These works have been donated by the artists to be shipped to the art museum in AIN-Harod in Israel where they will represent a variety of styles, sociological attitudes, personalities and kinds of landscape to be found in this country.

Walk-Up Gallery Opened Saturday

Woodstock, July 20—Nan Pini's Walk Up Gallery, formerly the Mollie Higgins Smith Gallery, opened Saturday afternoon and has already reported the sale of a painting "The House on the Mountain," by Marianne Appel to Mr. and Mrs. George Willis. The gallery will be open the year round and will exhibit oil paintings, sculpture, watercolors and drawings by Ulster county artists and art students. Exhibitors will be changed every two weeks. Artists represented for the opening two weeks in the gallery include Alfio Faggi, Frances Stein, Rollin Crampton, H. Roth, Sawkill, Florence Matteson, Natalie Tepper, Elsbach Connie, Mrs. Sara Cashdollar, Clarence McCarthy, Allan Cochrane, Kurt Stutzer, Van Ronsaler, Clarence Bolton, Anton Otto Fischer, Austin Mecklam, Marianne Appel, Molly Smith, Peggie Maguire, Edna Thurberg, Peggy Maguire, Ros Gil, Julia Leacycraft, Grant Arnold, Ethel Adams, Edward L. Chase, William MacReady, Marc Friedman, John Bentley, and R. W. Woloske.

A special section of the gallery will be reserved for the showing of work by art students, none of which will be priced higher than $20. Through the medium of the gallery, Mrs. Pini will make every effort to make the general public "art conscious." It was long been her belief that the average person would like to own paintings if the prices would fit his or her budget. The number of prominent artists who are exhibiting work at extremely low prices indicates that they are behind the idea and will assist in putting it over. Pictures in the shop may be purchased for as little as $5.

Unlike most galleries, the Walk-up Gallery is arranged with interesting antique furniture, which encourages visiting. It will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and evenings by appointment. More than 100 persons have already visited the gallery and Mrs.

Pini reports several sales in the process of negotiation.

Recreation Group Plans Benefit Play

Woodstock, July 20—The Recreation committee lacks $450 of the $1,000 required annually to maintain and carry on the activities of the Recreation center and in order to receive a like amount from the New York State Youth Commission. To make up this deficit, the committee, under the chairmanship of Anthony J. DeLise, president of the Woodstock Country Club, will take over the Woodstock Playhouse for a benefit performance Friday evening August 5 of the production "My Sister Ellen."

Tickets for the benefit performance will be available at the post office where a table will be set up in front of the building, at the box office, or from any member of the committee. Walter S. VanWagoner, director, Recreation Center, stated that the baseball uniforms at (Continued on Page 21, Col. 1)

Wednesday afternoon a freak storm struck the Catskill area and for five minutes there was a near cloudburst. During the five minute storm five wires which supply the village of Catskill were struck, taking out the entire village service. It was forty minutes before emergency repairs were completed and service restored.

While surrounding areas appear to have a very heavy concentration of rainfall, the city engineer's gauge recorded a total of .46 inches of rain during the day, slightly less than a half inch.

Firemen Are Called
At 8:15 p. m. the fire department was called out to the Benedictine Hospital where an alarm box at the hospital was struck by lightning sending in an alarm. Eisenhower and the atomic-energy commissioners.

At the end of it, Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the committee said no conclusions had been reached and that the question would be explored further. The first meeting was held at Blair House with President Truman a week ago tonight.

Later yesterday, in an endorsement of the pact, McMahon told the Senate the Atlantic Pact will carry no obligation for this country to share its atomic know-how. McMahon tried hard to brush off any discussion of the atomic matter during the Senate pact debate.

"At the present time, because of the fact that we are engaged in the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, in the discussion of our international relationships with two of our allies with regard to this subject, I do not feel I care to pursue the matter any further," he told Wherry.

Gossip Column Causes Husband-Wife Battle

A gossip column in a newspaper published at Winston Salem, N. C., stirred trouble in this city, according to a police blotter notation at 6:38 p. m. last night.

Officers Frank Sammons and Kenneth Stratton were sent to Ann street, where the report said, "a woman was being beaten."

The officers reported that the fight between a man and his wife was "over a piece of bad publicity" in the Telegram-Independent-Intelligencer, which is published in the southern city, and which referred to Kingston residents of the colored race in a column titled, "New York After Dark."

The article, said the police report, accused the man's wife of "being out with other men."

No arrest was made.

Cleared of Charge

New York, July 21 (AP)—Peter
Raimondi, 45, of 296 Edwards
Place, Yonkers, N. Y., was cleared of a charge of automobile hornicide when he was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate William E. Ringel in automobile accident court in connection with the death
June 28 of Giorgio Fiorito, 44, of 139 Willow street, Yonkers. Fiorito was working in an excavation at 227th street and Broadway when its bank caved in under the weight of a truck driven by Raimondi. Magistrate Ringel said there was no evidence of culpable negligence on the part of the driver.

Wrong Year

Miami, Fla. (AP)—T. E. Rake-straw, Miami policeman, has completed a mission that friends believe is deserving of some sort of medal. Rakestraw was sent to Atlanta, Ga., to pacify the tempers of some 40 Atlantans who had received notices from the Miami police department to "please remit $3" for traffic violations. The hitch was that none of the Atlanta motorists had been in Miami.

Georgia license tags expire in April. Miami police thought the 1948 tags were still in effect. The violators were listed under 1949 numbers. Tempers of the unjustly accused have been soothed. Rake-straw reports, and now he's after the real violators.

Gets Eagle Award

Evans H. Boardman, a member of the Camp Tri-Mount staff this summer, was awarded Eagle rank Saturday night at the weekly awards campfire. The Eagle badge is the highest rank in the Boy Scout program and was earned while Boardman was a Boy Scout in Auburn, and as Scoutmaster of Troop 18, Albany. He is serving as unit leader at Uster-Greene Council's summer camp this season. The award was made by Boardman's brother, Charles E. Boardman who is field scout executive of Uster-Greene Council, serving the northern, western, mountain and Susquehanna districts. Their sister, Mrs. William Young of Binghamton was a visitor in camp and she pinned the badge on her brother.

South America. Other awards made Saturday night were as follows: Scout life guard to Eagle Scouts: Bartlett Spoor, Troop 40, Athens; Donald Hendrickson, Explorer Post 3, Kingston and Richard Fein, Troop 36, Saugerties. The following campers earned merit badges: Burdett Spoor: rowing and canoeing; John Monahan and Joseph Cendrilli of Troop 44 Catskill: swimming; Ray Lang and Reginald Benjamin of Troop 33, Malden, swimming.

Saturday afternoon's water carnival was won by the Iroquois village campers who scored 48 points to the 46 scored by the Mohicans. The meet was decided in the last event, the greased watermelon fight, which had to go into overtime periods to determine a winner. Events included various rowing races, underwater swimming races, "barnet" stroke, free style and side stroke races. All but four of the campers took part in the various events on the card.

Sunday afternoon the second week of the current season opened with 43 campers registered from 23 troops in the council.

From Kingston—Troop 1, Leroy W. Lane, Jr., Gerald R. Harp; Troop 3, Joseph Thurn, Martin Lukowski; Pack 6, Gerald K. Parkes; Pack 11, Robert McInerney; Troop 11, Carl Constant, Richard Constant, Norman Van Ness; Troop 12, C. Russell Edwards, Jr.

Port Ewen—Troop 26, John J. Albright, Robert W. Coutant, Richard LeFever, George Barkley, Robert Sanford.

Elizaville—Pack 27, Bruce Garrett; Troop 27, William McKenzie; Troop 29, Carl R. Steinhoff, Howard Schor.

Centerville—Pack 31, Hans R. Gunderud.

Glascow—Troop 35, Paul and Carl Modjeska.

Boy Has Passed Worst of Illness

Philadelphia, July 21 (AP)—Little Melvin Hill "is over the worst" of a series of skin grafting operations to repair the damage caused by a blast of kerosene last December 8.

That was the good word today from the five-year-old boy's doctor, Hans May, who says of his patient: "He's one of the nicest little boys I've ever seen."

Melvin, one of 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hill of Flemington, Pa., suffered third degree burns from his waist down as he poked a kerosene-covered shovel into a furnace.

He spent four months in Lock Haven Hospital before he was brought to Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia last April for a long series of skin grafting operations. "He was just a ghost of a little boy when he came," Dr. May recalled.

Dr. May said he used skin from the child's own back for the first operations to cover both ankles, legs and part of his thighs.

"Then I ran out of skin," the doctor explained.

To add to the dilemma, part of the area from which the good skin was taken failed to heal because of Melvin's condition.

Dr. May said in desperation he decided to use the skin of another person, though such grafts, he emphasized, do not always take permanently, except with identical twins.

Melvin's father, Martin, an employee of a Lock Haven building supply firm, volunteered and came to Philadelphia for the operations.

With skin taken from the father, Dr. May said he now has covered almost 90 per cent of the area which needed grafts.

But he emphasized using the father's skin was but a temporary measure. Since it usually disintegrates within three to six weeks, however, often it is replaced by the patient's own skin or by scar tissue, he added.

Hill has returned to his home and stout-hearted Melvin is now able to be up and around a little every day.

"His general condition is fine," Dr. May said.

The doctor, author of a book on skin grafting, said Melvin's case is the worst one he ever has undertaken in his years of surgery.

Installing St. Mary's New Organ

The Pastors, father and son, put in place one of the 16-foot open diapason pipes for the new Kilgen organ in St. Mary's Church. They expect to have it ready for dedication in August. Joseph Pastore, Sr., has been with the company 24 years.

Dedication Slated In August; Tone Always in Style

A $15,000 organ by the same manufacturer as the one in St. Patrick's Cathedral and Carnegie Hall, New York, will be ready for dedication in St. Mary's Church some time in August, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury told a reporter yesterday.

The pastor smiled in happy anticipation as he watched workmen from the Kilgen Organ Company busy at their task, and remarked that the two manual pipe instrument would be appropos to the 100th anniversary of the parish in September when an elaborate program is to be held.

Joseph Pastore, Sr., of Astoria, Kilgen employs for 24 years, his son, Joseph, and Charles Gonzalez, are installing the organ, which replaces one used for 49 years. Contributions from parishioners and friends will pay for the new Kilgen.

"Many authorities agree that the classic balanced beauty of Kilgen tonal structure is such that it never goes out of style," said the monsignor. He added that advice of two experts was sought by him and Theodore Riccobono, organist, on specifications for the new organ—Dr. Corbin, organist at St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the Rev. William Greene, archdiocesan director of music for New York.

The new instrument will be an open diapason, eight-foot; composed of 1,297 pipes with 24 straight stops and chimera for pedal, swell and great organs. The stops will be operated by tilting tablets.

Stop lifts will be for Great Organ: flute harmonic, eight-foot; Gemshorn, eight-foot; dulciana, eight-foot; octave, four-foot; tromba, eight-foot; tremolo; chimera; swell to great; swell to great four-foot; great to great four-foot; unison off; and swell to great four-foot.

Swell—Heblisch gedect, 16-foot; gelgen diapason, eight-foot; gedect, eight-foot; viola d'Gamba, eight-foot; violoncello, eight-foot; flauto, four-foot; four-foot; flauto, two-foot; mixture III; trumpet, eight-foot; chimera; tremolo; swell to swell, 16-foot; unison off; and swell to swell, four-foot.

Pedal—open diapason, 16-foot; Bourdon, 16-foot; Heblisch gedect, 16-foot; octave, eight-foot; flute, eight-foot; super octave, four-foot; flute, four-foot; doublets, two-foot; great to pedal, eight-foot; swell to pedal, eight-foot; great to pedal, four-foot; swell to pedal, four-foot; swell to pedal, four-foot.

Crescendo and Sforzando pedals are included.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function betrays poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, acting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Prompt or really unseasonable with amphetamine and similar stimulants show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

But the genius' secret technique, Bacchetta said, can only be turned into superlative violins by another genius. Bacchetta has already given the secrets to the Italian government "Antonio Stradivari School of violin making" here, and violins are being made according to what Bacchetta thinks was the master's methods.

The wind chambers are entirely within the casing and are controlled from the console by electro-pneumatic action.

In the new chambers constructed for the instrument there will be four tone openings, two for great and two for swell organs. The chambers are completely insulated to preserve the tonal sounds as well as to regulate the temperature. The chambers will be faced with three groupings of display pipes interspersed with two grills in Gothic design.

Below this will be oak paneling and the console. The paneling and chambers are being constructed by Frank Fautz and Elbert Dederick, local carpenters.

Stradivari Secrets

Cremona, Italy (AP)—"Give me a man with the wonderful hands, ears and feeling for violins that Antonio Stradivari had, and I will show him how to make violins as good as the master's superb instruments." Thus says Prof. Renzo Bacchetta, Cremona lawyer who thinks he has penetrated the secrets of the man who 200 years ago brought the violin to a state of perfection not since equalled.

Firemen Called Out
Local firemen answered two calls yesterday aside from those resulting from last night's storm. The first at 6:54 p. m. was for a rubbish fire on the property of James Van Allen, 19 Murphy street, and the next at 9:23 p. m. was for a blaze in the apartment of Ralph Lester, Cuneo building, 622 Broadway, where the motor of a refrigerator had overheated because of a short circuit. The unit was removed.

Vacation in Denmark

Rome (AP)—Five hundred Italian children will spend their holidays in Denmark under the International Union for the Protection of Children. The Union is an independent organization which looks after children not eligible for help under other existing schemes.

Miss Claire Wenner, delegate for the organization for Italy, The 500 children will be the third batch of young Italians to spend their vacations in Denmark. In 1947 one thousand were sent there and last year another 500.

Newfoundland consists of the island of that name (42,734 square miles) and Labrador (112,000 square miles).

At the annual meeting of St. Ursula's Alumnae Association for the class of 1949, officers were elected and plans completed for the annual dance, August 27, at Twaal/skilli Golf Club.

Officers who will serve for the year are Miss Betty Ann Smith, president; Mrs. Randolph Kieffer, vice president; and Miss Elizabeth Dwyer, treasurer.

Committee members for the dance include the Misses Elizabeth Dwyer, general chairman; Betty Ann Flint, tickets; Patricia Coudrey, decorations; Maureen Davis, refreshments; Jane Ann Forst, assistant dance chairman.

Golden Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. ADAM GEUSS, SR.

Without a doubt Kingston people who have been attending the concerts by the Woodstock String Quartet this summer at St. James Church Hall have heard the best in chamber music performed by first class musicians. The popularity of the group with the subscribers for the series can best be noted by last night's audience which numbered nearly 80 people.

In spite of the heavy electrical storms people continued to arrive almost until intermission time. The concert itself was one of the finest of the series and one which could be enjoyed on a warm summer evening.

The program opened with the String Quartet in A Minor, Opus 29, by Franz Schubert, a composition with many beautiful melodies and seemingly expert use of technique for expression. This was followed by two sketches by Eugene Goossens, "By the Tarn and Jack O'Lantern." In the latter the title was most suggestive of the music with the very whisperings of tone and contrasting soft waverings of melody.

Isa Sass, pianist, played with Ernest Drucker, violinist and Englebert Roentgen, cellist, in Mendelssohn's Trio for Piano, Violin and Cello, in D Minor, Opus 49, one of the most beautiful numbers heard in the series. Each of the four movements demanded the utmost in technique, skill and expression. The quartet was truly fortunate in engaging Isa Sass for the series. She is wonderful.

In addition to Mr. Drucker and Mr. Roentgen, the members of the quartet are Michael Tolomeo, violinist, and Frank Hale, violist, combining exceptional individual musicianship into a superlative ensemble.

Next week, the fifth concert in the series of six will be given Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. Mildred Meditz, soprano, will be guest artist. Miss Sass will play and the quartet will play a Verdi number.

Single admissions are available at the door for any of the concerts. Mr. Roentgen, manager of the quartet, spoke briefly last night of tentative plans for next season when a series of six concerts will be played. He also expressed the appreciation of the quartet and committee for the support this season and particularly for the exceptional attendance during the storm last night.

Adam Geusses Have 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Geuss, Sr., of 16 Hunter street, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at Mannerchor Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Geuss were married in Brooklyn July 11, 1899 and moved to Rosendale May 4, 1915, and then to Kingston during the same year. Mr. Geuss established a bakery and has been associated in the business since that time.

Many relatives and friends attended the party Sunday including their children, Mrs. Edward Mayer, Mrs. Frank Kiwus of Kingston, Mrs. Arthur Conley of Poughkeepsie, George, John, Lawrence, Adam, Jr., and Gerard of Kingston, and Richard of Long Island, and their families.

The Mannerchor Singing Society honored the couple by singing several selections. Mrs. Clementine Nessel, Richard Meyer and Herman Schuler were soloists.

ived in time for last Sunday's game with Ellenville but he said, "confidentially, I believe the boys would have preferred butting suits." The Recreation boys were defeated by the Ellenville team, 16-4. In spite of the sudden downpour, the game was played.

Monday afternoon the Junior Recreation team defeated the Woodstock C. C. caddies, 29-4, at the Recreation field. Billy Watrous, pitcher, did not allow any hits during his three innings while Becker, pitcher, allowed three hits and four runs in three innings.

The Caddies used five pitchers but none were successful in finding the plate, allowing 11 hits and walking 14 men.

For the Juniors, Sloan and Herby Watrous collected singles, while Berkowitz and Russell collected two singles each. Carl Van Wagenen, slugged out four singles and Billy Watrous had a single. Short collected two hits for the Caddies and Werner Polak one hit.

At its last meeting, the Recreation Committee expressed appreciation to Daniel Klein, Shady, for donating services and surveying the skating pond on the field; and to Leonhardt Schell, Woodstock Bakery for his donation of rolls for the Artists-Writers game.

Siporin Shows Work

In Gotham Gallery
Woodstock, July 20—A new work not before exhibited in New York, by Mitchell Siporin, local artist, is included in the July exhibition at the Downtown Gallery, New York. The summer show at the gallery has been divided into three parts. The second part now on exhibition represents the $500 class, and will be followed by a $250 show. Through these summer shows, the gallery is attempting to demonstrate that a painting costs no more than any other major element of household decoration, dependent upon the individual budget.

Mitchell Siporin is represented by "Twilight on Upper Broadway."

Forum Slated 28th

Woodstock, July 21—"In Our Freedom of Speech Threatened?" will be the topic for next Woodstock Forum to be held in the Town Hall, Thursday, July 28, at 8:30 p. m. Sol Marcus, legal counsel for the Automobile Workers Union, former president, Liberal Party, Queens county and Harman Haupt, chairman, professor emeritus, Yale University will be two of the speakers on the platform. A third speaker will be announced.

School Estimate

Woodstock, July 20—Clark S. Neher, chairman, Board of Trustees, Woodstock District 2, has forwarded to the State Department of Education for approval, an estimated cost of $211,000 to cover the building of the proposed new semi-detached school. It is hoped that the approval will be received by the end of this week when a notice will be posted inviting taxpayers in the district to attend a special meeting for the purpose of voting on the project.

Concert Saturday

Woodstock, July 21—Miss Penny Perry, lyric soprano, one of Fred Warrings Pennsylvanians since 1946, Bob Carlson, bass, also a member of the Pennsylvanians, and Mrs. Clara Chichester, pianist, will give two concerts Saturday, July 23, in the Goddard Studio. In the afternoon, the concert will begin at 4:30 and the evening concert will be given at 8:30.

Bob Carlson, a native Woodstocker, is the son of the late John Carlson and Mrs. Carlson. Following his graduation from Exeter, he studied music and painting for two years in Italy, when World War 2 interrupted his studies. After his honorable discharge, he appeared on Broadway in Elia's Rainbow for eight months and then joined the Pennsylvanians.

Miss Perry, a native of Minneapolis, began her singing career in a high school opera. As a result of her success, she found herself in a top solo spot in the program "Pure Oil Polypore" broadcast over the Minneapolis radio station. Later, her voice teacher, Otto Jellison, gave her a scholarship to continue her voice work. She appeared with St. Paul's Civic Opera Company where she was engaged to sing leading soprano roles. Thence to Chicago and New York.

Mrs. Clara Chichester has long been known here as well as in New York as a brilliant pianist. Besides playing solos, she will accompany the vocalists on the program. The program includes a duet from "Traviata" to be sung by Bob and Miss Perry; a group of DeBussy and Chausson solos by Miss Perry; solos by Bob Carlson with his own guitar accompaniment; and a group of Italian songs.

Program Is Announced

For Maverick Sunday
Woodstock, June 21—Madame Jacqueline Marcault, distinguished French pianist, and Pierre Henrotte, violinist and assistant conductor, New Orleans' Symphony Orchestra, will appear on the concert stage at the Maverick, Sunday at 4 p. m.

The program includes Sonata in F Minor by Bach; First Sonata in D Minor, Opus 75 by Saint Saens for the first performance of this selection at the Maverick Concert Hall; and Sonata in A Major by Cesar Franck. The latter selection will be played by request.

An exhibition of paintings by Nicholas Marsicano will be hung in the concert hall.

Martin Students Display

Art in Theatre Lobby
Woodstock, July 21—On exhibition through Sunday, July 24, in the lobby of the Woodstock Playhouse are paintings by students of Fletcher Martin, instructor, Art Students League. Included are Still Life, Naomi Newman; Recorder Player and Toro, Lou Weber; Kingston Reservoir and Woodstock Farm, Muneef Alwan, Joy To The World and Fighters, Bob Trotter; Boots, Russell Sully; Lola, Roy Barth; Hitchhikers and Lux Wash, Joseph Stewart and Still Life with Roots and Still Life with Bottle, Gerry Schell.

Lost Geese

Woodstock, July 21—The following communication signed by Miss Jean T. Strain, lower Byrdcliffe road, was received by Supervisor Kenneth L. Wilson Tuesday of this week. "If any farmer has complained of losing a flock of 11 geese, they are on my property at the moment. I gave them water but no food. They should have care and they are certainly a great nuisance."

An attempt is being made to locate the owners of the geese. To make a smart store for beach wear, take a large Turkish towel and line it with a strip of colorful cotton print.

Colonials Rained Out; Return Saturday for Week-End Series

Rained out of their getaway game with the Bristol Owls Wednesday night at the municipal stadium, the Kingston Colonials take to the road again tonight for games in Bristol and Stamford.

Following this brief road jaunt, the Colonials who showed signs of snapping out of their slump Tuesday night, will be back at the uptown ball park for week-end tilts with the high-flying Bridgeport Bees.

The Bees will be here for a singleton Saturday night and then for a wind-up twin-bill Sunday night, first game starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Kingston will be at Bristol tonight for a single encounter with Manager Al Barilari's Nutmeg state club while on Friday the local mob will be in Stamford for a single night tilt with the Pioneers, current pace setters.

Stamford, paced by Pete Gentile, the Yankee bonus star who is on option with the Colonial League entry, hammered out a 12 to 5 win over Bridgeport last night to move into undisputed possession of first place.

Gentile clubbed a homer, two doubles and a single to lead the 17-hit attack.

Although Manager Emil Gall, the new Colonial skipper who made his debut here Tuesday night when the Colonials presented him with a neat 1-0 win, hasn't announced his selection for starting pitchers tonight, it is expected that either "Lefty" Red Taylor or Francisco Sostre will get the call.

Tellefen has been hurling good ball for the locals but has been the victim of tough breaks in several of his appearances. Sostre, a sore-arm case from the start of the 1949 campaign, has shown recent signs of becoming a valuable member of the mound corps.

Sostre's most convincing effort was last week's brilliant relief hurling against Poughkeepsie.

Up until yesterday's heavy rain forced the postponement of last night's Kingston-Bristol game, indications were that a big turnout would be in the stands. There was plenty of talk after Kingston squeaked through with that 1-0 win in one of the finest games of the season at the uptown ball orchard.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JACK HAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Larry Doty's "skull" and Joe DiMaggio's hitting have put the cooler on Cleveland's pennant drive—at least temporarily.

Doby drew a fine of an undisclosed amount last night after he was thrown out trying to steal home with the bases loaded and nobody out in the eighth inning. Doby's Cleveland mates trailed the league-leading New York Yankees, 7-3 at the time. That turned out to be the final score.

Lefty Joe Page, who had just replaced "Steady Eddie" Lopat was having his troubles. He walked Manager Lou Boudreau on four straight pitches to force in a run. He hadn't found the plate in two tosses to Bob Kennedy. Then it happened.

Breaks a Nasty

Doby broke for the plate as Page walked back toward the resin bag. The pitcher whirled and threw to catcher Yogi Berra, who tagged Doby as he dove head first across the plate. Page proceeded to walk Kennedy. Then he found his stuff to fan Jim Hegan and make pinch hitter Ken Keltner ground to Bobby Brown.

There seemed to be no excuse for Doby. Third base coach Steve O'Neill didn't send him in, although the crowd of 75,340 booed him. Doby's club trailed by four runs. It definitely was not any situation for a steal.

DiMaggio, who lifted the Yankees past Boston when they threatened in late June, drove in three runs with a triple and homer and scored twice as the Yanks again stretched their lead to 4½ games.

The Boston Red Sox dropped 8½ games behind the leaders by bowing to the Chicago White Sox, 8-7. The White Sox won in the ninth on a triple by George Metkovich, two intentional passes and Eddie Malone's outfield fly, scoring Metkovich.

Doby pushed over three runs in the eighth to shade Washington, 6-5. Johnny Lipon's squeeze bunt single scored Moot Evers with the winning run. Evers led the attack with three singles off loser Mickey Harris.

Cards Gain

Brooklyn lost a full game of its advantage in the National. The St. Louis Cardinals clipped Brooklyn's margin to 2½ games by a 10-inning night game decision over the Boston Braves, 6-4, after the Dodgers lost an afternoon 8-6 verdict to the crushing Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ralph Kiner lowered the boom on the Braves, driving in five runs with home runs Nos. 25 and 26. His second homer came in the top of the ninth with two men on and Brooklyn leading, 6-5.

Lou Klein, one of the three Cards who returned to organized ball from the Mexican League, belted a two-run double off the left field wall that broke up the Boston game in the 10th inning. The Braves routed Howie Pollet with four runs in the second inning.

Hank Sauer drove in all the Chicago Cubs' runs with two homers and a triple in their 11-inning, 4-3 victory over the Phillies. Sauer, who hit only four homers for Cincinnati, now has 14 as a Cub and 18 for the year. His triple off reliever Curt Simmons scored Andy Pafko who singled in the eleventh.

The stout-hearted wing commander, now 40, fell after clearing the last hurdle in front in an Olympic Games heat last summer. He plans to retire.

Big Field Set For Rhinebeck

A large field of cars with anxious and over anxious drivers will make up the eight event stock car races at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night.

Representatives of other major Eastern tracks who attended last Saturday and voiced approval of the new 50-Lap "mad cap" featuring along with the way fans cheered continuously for the underdog in each event and praised their loyalty to local drivers.

Promoter Steve Zito explained that a great amount of enthusiasm is being shown by both fans and racing hopefuls who want to enter the stock car racing sport. He pointed out that besides the local cars and drivers racing at Rhinebeck there are many more from Beacon, one from Wappingers Falls, two from Kingston and four from Poughkeepsie.

Bob Tator of Rhinebeck, who broke into the feature winner's circle, will have plenty of competition this Saturday when many of the top stock car drivers in the east will be on hand. There were 28 signed up by Wednesday noon.

The first of eight events starts at 8:30 and the fastest cars will race in the 25-lap feature.

Bangaway Favorite For Hambletonian

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—Bangaway, a fast stepping-son of Volomite, today was cast in the role of favorite for the $87,000 Hambletonian at Goslon August 10.

He beat 10 of the nation's top three-year-old trotters, including eight other Hambletonian hopefuls, in winning the $10,000 Saratoga trot last night.

Bangaway, owned by C. M. Saunders of Toledo, O., took command at the three-quarter pole and won going away in 2:08 1/5. His leading rival, Martha Doyle, was three lengths back for second. Crossbow finished strong for third.

The win, third straight major stake triumph for Bangaway, rewarded backers with $5.00, $2.60 and $2.60.

Expects Price to Hold
Syracuse, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—The president of the Dairy Farmers' League Cooperative Association expects the current price of 55¢ for a hundredweight of Class 1-A fluid milk will be continued through August in the New York milkshed. Leon A. Chapin told the league board of directors yesterday that it was "practically a certainty" the 55¢ floor price for July would be extended for another month. He added that the federal Department of Agriculture was considering continuing that price for the remainder of the year. However, Chapin indicated the league would oppose the long-term extension and would seek a price increase in the fall.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Frequent references to the idea that we are experiencing a "psychological recession" are interesting from the standpoint of the "contrary theory"—interesting because in this writer's judgment, these references are wholly wrong.

Those who talk about the setback being psychological have the least before them, the horse, have twisted their causes and effects. In last Sunday's New York Times Magazine Professor Sumner H. Slichter referred to these psychological theories in an analysis of the business situation. (The conclusion, by this noted economist, by the way, is that the upturn in business is not far away—a contrary viewpoint the Ruminator has doggedly held to.)

Professor Slichter mentioned a comment of a leading advertising executive, remarks made a week ago by the President's Economic Advisors, and a remark by Vermont Senator Ralph E. Flanders. These prominent men all seem to fear the danger of businessmen and the public generally turning themselves into depression. If they actually believe this, then of course they add to the danger by spreading the idea around. Because of their prominence, their comments receive wide circulation.

None of these men, with their exceptionally broad experience and diversified training, are to be excused. In my opinion, from voicing erroneous theories. They must know they are confusing cause and effect.

Always, without exception, the point where "going down" changes to "going up" (where recession shifts to recovery), so-called psychology is bleak and pessimistic. I am confident that no reader can refer to the bottom of the recent bottom of any recession and public sentiment was rosy and optimistic.

It is pessimism, and the influence of this retarding psychological influence upon businessmen and the public, which brings about a correction of the over-boomed economic cycle and P.E.S. THE WAY FOR RECOVERY.

Pessimism results from business turning soft and becoming sour. Pessimism does not cause a downturn. The downturn starts when optimism is rampant. As Professor Slichter states: "the upturn will produce an improvement in sentiment—but the change in sentiment will be the result of the recovery, not the cause of it."

The trait of "economic psychology" has been witnessed time and again in Wall Street. When prices on the stock market are falling, spirits keep pace and drop likewise. The deeper prices fall, the bleaker becomes the pessimism. Pessimism is a result, obviously, not a cause of the decline in prices.

The theory of contrary opinions, as I have ventured to develop it and interpret it, is based upon getting cause-and-effect in their correct channels. Which is to say, that the horse must be hitched in front of the cart, not behind. When we recognize that pessimism is a result of poor business and falling security prices—and that optimism thrives on active business and rising prices we then perceive the logic of "crossing" sentiment, of being contrary. There is nothing new in this. It is simply following the copy-book maxims that "it's always darkest before dawn" and that "trees do not grow to reach the sky."

The Ruminator is quick to admit that such questions as "how long will the darkness last?" and "how high do trees grow?" confuse interpretations of the contrary theory. The "time element" is elusive. However, all economic forecasting contains a large amount of intelligent guessing. The use of the contrary theory requires intelligent guessing also.

Let us refer to previous contrary opinions in this column, by way of illustration.

The Ruminator has trotted out his contrary arguments against the pessimistic forebodings for the stock market each time prices have dropped into "low spots" during the past winter and spring. For a time, early in June, this contrary opinion seemed dead wrong and foolish. Yet, the market abruptly and climbed back into the arena where it fluctuates narrowly for months. Foy would have been nimble enough to get out and to get in again during the extremely brief June drop. Moreover, in and out places one in the short-term tax category, which is costly. Additionally, dividends have been so generous, as a whole, that it has been wiser (up to now) to stay with investments than to desert them. It is a trait of human nature that when one sells and gets out of the market he is slow to get back in—and particularly slow to buy back if prices are higher than when he sold.

By exploiting pessimism and being contrary it has paid (thus far) NOT to desert the market. Recognizing that pessimism is a result, not a cause, of setbacks lends confidence to acting opposite to the "crowd" whenever conditions look the blackest. Referring again to the stock market, when others are selling and when prices "look their worst," it is a buying opportunity. As a further argument for thinking in a different direction from the general run of comments, it appears now that the June drop in Wall Street reflected fears of the foreign crisis—another contrary point emphasize here that affairs abroad were more important to watch than our domestic problems. The temporary abatement of the English crisis has relieved the pressure on stock prices, apparently.

Three Candidates Go Out in Front For G.O.P. Office

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Three potential candidates appeared today to be forgoing to the front in the race for the Republican national chairmanship to be vacated August 4 by Rep. Hugh D. Scott of Pennsylvania.

The three were Guy Gabrielson, New Jersey committee chairman; Sumnerfield, Michigan member, and A. T. "Bert" Howard, Nebraska state chairman.

Former Senator John A. Danaher of Connecticut quit the race yesterday after Senator Taft (R-Ohio) announced that he wasn't supporting Danaher any more than any of several other candidates.

Danaher, who had been credited with having the backing of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said he couldn't desert his law practice.

Some members said Danaher's withdrawal reflected anti-Dewey sentiment within the committee. They added that this was so widespread that it was negating the chances of Howard because he was a pre-convention supporter of the governor last year.

Howard is being boomed as a non-faction candidate, however, as is Sumnerfield. The latter, who heads the party's strategy committee, supported Scott when the present chairman beat off an ouster attempt in Omaha last January.

But Sumnerfield also is friendly with committee members who fought Scott at that time and is active in G.O.P. fund raising, where, the going has been tough this year.

Supported by the anti-Scott forces, Gabrielson was credited by some of his friends with having 30 or more of the committee's 105 votes. They said this was considerably more than any other candidate could show.

The Scott forces are against Gabrielson because he is in the same camp with Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Harrison Spangler of Iowa, both former champions who led an unsuccessful move to ouster Scott.

Senator Martin (R-Pa.) said he and other friends of the present chairman haven't lined up behind any particular candidate.

Coalition Gives

compromises but before nightfall the House may vote to:

1. Scuttle or water down the administration-backed bill that calls for a three-crop trial run of the program in 1950. This law, set to become effective next year, would permit a flexible 60 to 90 per cent of parity support program for major crops.

2. Continue the present farm program in 1950. This program supports major crops at a rigid 90 per cent of parity, (a price fixed by formula calculated to give farmers a fair purchasing power). This is done through government loans and purchases that keep price-depressing surpluses off the market. Farmers do not now get direct subsidies from the government.

The House debate, frequently bitter, ran like this:

The administration side—Speakers argued that losses such as have been suffered in the potato support program could wreck the present farm program. They said that limited subsidies, instead of price supports, are the answer. Rep. Pace (D.-Ga.), author of the administration bill, wanted to know how long the people would permit spending "hundreds of millions of dollars to support a program that lets food rot on the ground or feeds it to the hog."

The opposition. Leaders charged that the administration bill, which promises cheaper food through subsidies, gets its support principally from organized labor—not from farmers. They argued that subsidies would lead to a percentage O.P.A. at cost billions more than present price supports.

Disinterment Asked

White Plains, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—When Charles H. Oster was buried last April 9 at Ferncliff Cemetery, did he have $1,000 in the breast pocket of his suit? His widow, Margaret, and son, Franklin, of Matawan, N. J., think there is a good chance he did. They are planning to have the body disinterred and the pocket searched.

Ernest A. Stauding, public works superintendent, served as secretary of the board in the absence of A. Foster Winfield, who is on vacation.

Plans for Alaska

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson assured senators today that adequate plans for defending Alaska are in operation but he asked to tell about them at a secret session.

Johnson appeared before the Senate Armed Services Committee to urge quick approval of $643,000,000 worth of construction projects for the army, navy and air forces. The work would be done both in this country and overseas.

Says Bike Hit Car

Harriet Quick, 406 Washington avenue, reported to the police at 10 p. m. Wednesday that John Stenson, 10, of 206 West Chestnut street, ran his bicycle into the left rear of her car as she stopped near 746 Broadway. The boy said he was uninjured, she reported, but his mother later informed her that his right thigh hurt, and said she would take him for treatment today.

No Murphy Successor

Washington, July 21 (AP)—President Truman said today he will name a successor to the late Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy as soon as possible. But he declined to give any hint as to who might receive the post.

Maverick Players

Brave Elements As Comedy Opens

Woodstock, July 21—"Return Engagement," a three-act comedy by Lawrence Riley, was presented Wednesday night at the Maverick Summer Theatre. The play will continue through Sunday, July 24.

During the first two acts the players had to compete with the elements and missed many of the laughs they should have had as the dialogue in the play is very amusing.

Dwight Carter gave a good performance in his role as Geoffrey Armstrong, an older actor whose ego is his undoing.

Jane Glover, playing the part of the star imported for a new play being tried out for a summer theatre, was convincing and she handled the characterization with the utmost ease.

The character woman in the summer theatre company was capably portrayed by Delphina Brownings, who shows signs of considerable ability.

For his comedy show, the author takes the background of a small summer playhouse in Connecticut which is handicapped by a lady patroness, Mrs. Faulkner, who insists that her silly daughter be given important parts or else.

Bill Gardner, author of a promising script about to be tried out, pretends to clope with Mrs. Faulkner's daughter to give a talented ingenue a chance to play an important part. Things buzz along fast as the mosquitoes which add to the atmosphere to this comedy about summer stock.

Others in the cast include Elsie Hoffman, Jan De Mars, Connie Hanlon, Mary Jane Frican, Bill Greife, Judy Hollis, Ronnie Sare, Dan Magann, Michael Kane and Tom Reddy.

Seventh Witness

New York, July 21 (AP)—A Cincinnati, Ohio, Communist party official became the seventh defense witness today in the trial of 11 American Communist leaders on conspiracy charges.

Frank Hashmal, (3459 Harvey avenue) said he is a machine repair man by trade but now is employed as chairman of his party in Hamilton county. Defense attorneys indicated he was called to answer statements of John Victor La Blanc, Euclid, Ohio, and William Cummings, Toledo, F.B.I. undercover men who testified for the prosecution.

New Barn in 20 Hours

New Holland, Pa., July 21 (AP)—A barn destroyed by fire three weeks ago was re-built today almost as fast as it burned down.

Nearly 300 neighbors of the barn's owner helped replace the structure that was gutted July 1. Work on re-building the 46 by 90 foot barn began yesterday in this eastern Pennsylvania rural community near Lancaster. It was completed today. Total time consumed: About 20 hours.

Six Are Executed

Beirut, Lebanon, July 21 (AP)—Six alleged members of the National Syrian party, an outlawed political group, were shot to death this morning in a mass execution. They had been convicted of armed revolt against the government. They were tried last week-end by a military tribunal which sentenced 53 others to prison sentences of from three years to life. Three of those shot were Palestinians, two Lebanese and one Syrian.

Case Is Adjourned

Karl Huber, 52, of 55 Green street was arrested yesterday by Officers Joseph Fallon and Gerald Evey on a warrant charging third degree assault. Hearing was adjourned for two weeks when he appeared in city court today. Police said his wife was the complainant.

Urges Atom Secret

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Senator Wherry, the Republican floor leader, told the Senate today that before approving the North Atlantic Pact it should "close the door" against giving the atom bomb to other members.

Health Warning

Given on Garbage

Numerous complaints concerning the dumping of putrescible, "offensive materials," have been viewed by the Ulster County Department of Health. Most of these complaints deal with the indiscriminate dumping of garbage on private property or unauthorized locations.

"Offensive materials" such as garbage, meat wastes and the like, have been dumped along many of the highways in Ulster county. Indiscriminate dumping of "offensive materials" is against the law and violates the Penal Law of the State of New York, the Ulster County Sanitary Code, and the state and highway law. Garbage may be dumped only in regularly established dumps in Ulster county.

The Sanitary Code for Ulster county specifically states that "no person, excepting a municipality, shall engage in the business of removing, collecting, transporting, or disposing of offensive material within Ulster county and regardless of the point of origin, without permit therefor, issued by the commissioner."

Always Had Doubt

London, July 21 (AP)—Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said in Parliament today they doubted from the beginning the wisdom of President Roosevelt's unconditional surrender policy for Germany. Bevin said in a House of Commons foreign policy debate the policy had left "a shambles" upon which to rebuild Germany. If he had been consulted at the time, he said, he never would have agreed to it.

Bishops Speak

Vatican City, July 21 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic bishops have told the Czech Communist government there can be no church-state agreement without government recognition of the Pope as the supreme head of the church. A Vatican source, who gave out this information, said the Czech Episcopate, defying government attempts to take over full control of the church, sent a letter to all its priests listing the church's terms. The letter called on the Czechoslovak government to abandon its sponsorship of a separatist Catholic action group, whose members have been excommunicated by the Vatican.

Democrats ...

I cannot say now that I specifically remember it. I can say to you though that I have always conducted myself in both political and private life in such a way that I feel that I can go to the people in the city of Kingston and ask them on the basis of my record for their support. I realize that winning an election is not a one man job.
"The ticket which you shall complete here tonight can win only if you all firmly resolve that your service here tonight is only the beginning of a long campaign. It is my intention to start in from this time to fervently and honestly conduct a vigorous and informative campaign. To do that I need your help. So far as I myself am concerned, my every effort shall be devoted to make this campaign a successful one and, God willing, it will be just that!"
Martocci opened his talk in support of Judge Coshin by stressing that what he said "transcends politics." He has always felt, he said, that when a person sits as a judge and is doing a good job, he ought to be continued in office, and ought to be supported by both political parties.
Other occasions when the party has followed this policy were cited including its endorsement of Supreme Court Judge Sidney F. Foster, and "not so many years ago" its endorsement of George Kaufman for the office of surrogate.
Of Judge Coshin as a candidate, Martocci stressed, "his experience and ability qualifies him eminently," and he added after relating his experience with the judge, "I am in a position to say he is one of the finest judges Ulster county has ever had."
The only regretful remark he had ever heard concerning the judge, Martocci said, had to do with the fact that "He isn't a Democrat."
The speaker said he felt he was expressing the feelings of a "great many lawyers—practically all in Ulster county," in his talk in behalf of the candidacy of Judge Coshin.
McGowan Nominated
Joseph Fox, delegate from the town of Olive, placed the name of Eugene McGowan of Shokan before the convention for the office of county treasurer, and it was seconded by William Keefe, delegate from the town of Saugerties.
Fox said McGowan is a retired New York business man, who is now a resident of Shokan. He has known him for 30 years, he said, and he felt that his past experience as a business man made him a suitable candidate for the office. The candidate, it was learned, had operated a fleet of taxicabs in New York.
William Flickenstein, delegate from the town of Wawarsing, nominated Robert Stapleton of Ellenville as candidate for district attorney, and it was seconded by James C. Plunket.
Flickenstein said he was "just a plain highway superintendent" and "I'm not here to make speeches." The party didn't need to "ring no bells or blow no whistles," but to get out and work, and send another Ellenville man to the district attorney's office—this time a Democrat.
Plunket described the candidate as "honest, capable, a fighter and able attorney."
No Selection Made
After stressing that it was unnecessary for a candidate to the office of coroner to be a doctor or an undertaker, Raymond Garraghan placed the name of John A. Weber before the convention, but the latter quickly declined, and it was voted to leave the selection of a candidate to the committee on vacancies.
Before adjournment of the county session Chairman Plunket said that six delegates and six alternates to the judiciary convention would be appointed, and stressing that this year "supervisors are to be elected," he urged every town to put up a full slate from the "supervisor right in down."
State Committeemen William F. Edelmuth and Marie A. Koenig were called by the chair to sit on the rostrum as the county convention opened.
Nominating Speech
In his nominating speech for O'Neill, Richard Riseley stressed that he was a lifelong resident of the city and that he had served the 13th ward as supervisor for three terms. During that time, he said, he "fought with all his might for the benefit of the people of his ward and the city of Kingston as a whole."
Riseley also said the candidate was "well versed in finances," because he is "by profession an accountant." He had served with him on the Board of Supervisors, he said, and "can testify" that he is a "battler without equal."

Former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, stressed that 10 years ago when he was first named by the party as its candidate for mayor it appeared as if "we didn't have a chance," but the fighting spirit won out. "Two years ago, however," he said, the fighting spirit lost in the attitude that "we can't be beaten," and "we lost."
If the party loses this campaign, Edelmuth declared, it will be because "we fell asleep as we did two years ago." The former mayor touched upon what may be one of the party's campaign issues by charging that the present administration has tried to indicate an increase in assessment would mean no tax raise.
Nominates Betts
Lawrence A. Quilty placed the name of James H. Betts before the convention as the candidate for alderman-at-large. He described him as an able and efficient candidate, a lifelong resident, a successful businessman and one who has distinguished himself in public life.
The nomination was seconded by William Singer, and Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin and Angela D. Smith were named to escort the candidate to the chair.
Betts said that while he had previously held appointive public office, this is the first time he has ever been a candidate for an elective office, and he stressed that "we can win" if the candidates work together as a team.
William A. Kelly, who served as clerk of the conventions, nominated Francis Martocci for the office of city judge, and stressed that in his experience there has been "no finer nor more capable attorney practicing in this county."
The candidate was appointed special city judge in 1945 and served so well that he was appointed for four years, he said.
Attorney Arthur B. Ewig in seconding the nomination of Martocci said that "It is not every lawyer who has the experience, qualifications and judicial temperament for the office, and he felt that the candidate has. William A. Kaecher and James Flori also seconded the nomination.
The candidate was escorted to the chair by Ewig and Kaecher. Martocci in accepting said he was happy to join the team of O'Neill and Betts, and "I say that if it and when I become the city judge, that court will be run the way the the county and supreme courts are run, and I will have more to say during the campaign on this."
Before adjournment of the city convention Chairman Plunket named Walter Keefe, town of Saugerties; Abraham Rothkopf, Wawarsing; and John E. McGowan, Marlborough as the committee on vacancies in the county, and Thomas Coughlin, J. J. Carroll and Joseph Epstein as the committee on vacancies in the city.
The convention was about a half hour late in opening because of the weather and at one time during the electrical storm the court house was in darkness for two or three minutes.

State Will Suspend Licenses, if Necessary

Albany, N. Y., July 21 (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Bureau warned motorists today that it would suspend driver licenses, if necessary, to enforce a new law requiring 48-hour reporting of serious accidents.
The law, which went into effect July 1, requires that reports be filed with the bureau within 48 hours after the accident in which anyone is killed or injured, or in which there is property damage of more than $50.
A 10-day check indicated that complete reports were submitted we should permit a situation to continue in which they can be violated at all.

Delinquent accident reporters will be called upon to explain their tardiness, under new procedures initiated by the bureau, and when no satisfactory explanation is made, license suspensions will be in order," the bureau declared.
The bureau said that if one of the principals in an accident was injured and unable to make a report, the report should be filed by the vehicle owner, a member of his family or a passenger in the car.
Reports Bicycle Stolen
Andrew McCauley, 58 Smith avenue, reported to the police at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday that his bicycle had been stolen from Sahler's Park.
